WELCOME TO THE 2023 SCOTTDALE FALL FESTIVAL

The Scottdale Fall Festival has existed for 49 years. Although the festival has had many names over the last 49 years, the principles have never changed. This will be the 48th Festival due to the pandemic in 2020. The idea started with Scottdale's 100th-anniversary celebration. A group of local citizens created the celebration for the 100-year anniversary of the town. This group of people then decided to have an annual event called the Scottdale Coke Heritage Festival; 1974 was the first event. The festival would change names several times over the decades until its present-day name, Scottdale Fall Festival, which has remained for the past 26 years. This festival was created by the community of Scottdale, for the community of Scottdale.

Over the last 49 years, the festival has attracted people of all ages and helps promote local businesses in our community. This three-day celebration has many events such as a car show, live entertainment, a race, ethnic foods, children's area, and much more. The Scottdale Fall Festival committee thanks you for attending and making this event bigger and better each year!

From Fountain Mills to Scottdale Borough

In 1874, the community previously known as Fountain Mills incorporated as a borough. Although the new borough would take on the name Scottdale, it had earned its name Fountain Mills honestly. The small community growing along Jacobs Creek in the mid-1800s had several mills. But none for steel. Grist and flour mills for feed, flour, and whiskey made use of grain that would otherwise rot or be ruined by pests. Even as early as the 1790s and early 1800s, mills and distilleries dotted the area, operated by Smiths, Stricklers, Chains, Snyders, Stauffers, Hursts, Stoners, and of course Overholts. Whiskey distilling in Scottdale trickled on throughout the century but it became an admirable industry in neighboring West Overton and throughout western PA. Fountain Mills also boasted a saw mill for new construction in the area and a carding mill for preparing wool into workable yarn.

By the mid-1800s, those small businesses along Jacobs Creek in Fountain Mills had grown and some began to shift. Many of the early Fountain Mills families were entrepreneurs and followed the changing tide of business. In 1859, J. R. Stauffer & Co. built a grist mill known as Dexter but when coal and coke erupted in the 1870s, the family entered the coking business and milling ended.

This shift in dominant industries, new businesses, and its location put Fountain Mills in a strong position. By 1872, the town was becoming a hub for regional industrial activity as coal mines, coke works, and steel mills opened. A year later, the largest corporation in the world, the Pennsylvania Railroad, opened a new branch in Fountain Mills. The next year, the community named its new borough after the PARR president, Thomas Scott. After weathering an economic depression in 1877, Scottdale became the largest manufacturing town in the county by the early 1900s.

Found on a street corner singing acappella, the guys signed a major label deal in 1965 that would change his life forever. Since his passion began, Chuck has become a well-known legend in Pittsburgh, USA and Internationally. He is the ONLY member of the original group who has kept the name alive since it’s inception. Ruff House

Brad Abbott is a ‘90s/2000s influenced singer songwriter from Jeannette PA, Ruff House is a five-piece band from Pittsburgh, PA, playing music that spans the generations - from classic rock and ‘90s, to pop, blues and even a little country!

Band members

Rob Capozzolo - drum

Paul Kazior - guitar and harmonica

Lacey Thurner - lead singer

Matthew Thurner - guitar

Dave Balzama - bass and vocals

Fun fact: Paul originally started Ruff House many years ago. His daughter, Lacey, joined the band when she was only 13 years old and introduced her husband, Matt, to the band several years later.

Norman Nardini

As bass player for the 1970s Pittsburgh rock n' roll band, Diamond Reo, Norman Nardini got his career started. After a very brief stay at Berklee School Of Music and more than a few special moments, Nardini played bass on "The Pennsylvania Polka" Steeler fight song. After doing an arrangement of "Dancing In The Street" that got picked up by RCA he did an arrangement of Marvin Gaye's "Ain't That Peculiar" that brought an album deal with Big Tree Records that got Diamond Reo started.

A highly talented, underground group from Wheeling, West Virginia, The Brett Cain Band, worked with Nardini to create some legendary music in the late 90s that resulted in their LP, Rise. As leader of The Pittsburgh Blues Allstars, Nardini has led their performance at the Pittsburgh Blues Festival for the last 13 years, shows that have featured the best of the 'burg Shari Richards, Billy Price, Gary Beloma, Kenny Blake Mark Stutso, and Jill West. The late great Glenn Pavone played his last show with The Allstars at the Blues Fest. With Harry Bottom as Bass player and BG vocals, Mike Floccari on drums, and Larry Siefers on keyboards and tenor sax.

The Jaggerz

When you mention The Jaggerz to a Pittsburgher, chances are that person will burst into a chorus of 'THE RAPPER'. From the 'Club Natural' in Beaver Falls PA to Dick Clarks 'AMERICAN BANDSTAND' in Hollywood CA was a long way off, but Benny Faiella, Donnie Iris, Jimmie Ross, Bill Maybray, Tom Davies and Jim Pugliano Collectively known as The Jaggerz, made it.

After playing the club circuit seven nights a week, they broke into the college market. After a few summers at the Ohio Resort Geneva on the Lake, The Jaggerz still found time to write and polish their craft.

In 1968, Gamble Records of Philadelphia signed the band to it's first recording contract. Their first album 'INTRODUCING THE JAGGERZ' spawned their first two regional hits 'Baby I Love You' and 'Gotta Find My Way Back Home'.

Other artists with Gamble Records at the time were Jerry Butler, Dusty Springfield, The Intruders, Soul Survivor's, The Jays and Harold Melvin and the Blue Notes with Teddy Pendergrass.

In 1970, the band signed with Buddah/Kama Sutra Records in New York, where they recorded their second album 'WE WENT TO DIFFERENT SCHOOLS TOGETHER'. After nine weeks on the charts, their song 'THE RAPPER' edged out Brook Benton's "Rainy Night in Georgia" and Simon & Garfunkel's "Bridge Over Troubled Water". In March of that year, the band received their gold record for having the #1 SONG IN THE COUNTRY.

The Jaggerz have recorded 11 singles and seven albums/CDs including one with legendary radio personality the late Wolfman Jack. They also produced and recorded BOBBY RYDELL and JAMES (MOON DOGGIE) DARREN for their own production company, SIXUVUS REVIVAL MUSIC. Their latest CDs are: 'AND THE BAND PLAYED ON', 'RE-RAPPED BY REQUEST' and 'THE WALK'. In 2009, RAP stars, 'Wiz Khalifa and 'The Game', used a sample of the Jaggerz song 'Memoirs of the Traveler' off their 2nd album 'WE WENT TO DIFFERENT SCHOOLS TOGETHER'.

Original members, Jimmie Ross & Benny Faiella along with Hermi Granati (keyboards), Chris Patarini (sax), Paul Martello (drums) and Dennis McAbee (guitar) carry on the bands signature sound of great harmonies.

Eleanor Walrus: Re-Imagining the Beatles

Eleanor Walrus pays tribute to the incredible repertoire of The Beatles while “re-imagining” these timeless classics, enhancing them even further. Their shows have a familiarity that transcends generations and appeals to listeners of all ages. Each of the band’s performances has been widely heralded by the audience, leaving them searching to find the next Eleanor Walrus show.

Coming together for the first time as a four-piece band in 2016, their primary goal was to present songs from the Beatles psychedelic era onward, bringing together musical sensibilities from many genres including jazz and rock and roll, as well as jamband.

They’re definitely not just another Beatles cover band.

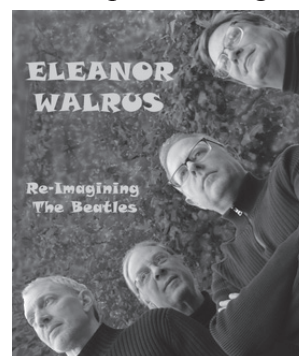

Band members:

Eric Kurtzrock - Drummer

Jeff Weise - Guitarist

Mike Tony - Pianist

Steve Cunningham - Bassist

Interestingly enough, three of the four band’s members, Jeff, Mike, and Eric all played together as teenagers in their very first band, Toccata, a British-influenced, progressive rock band. And now 34 years later, their love of making music together shines on as they re-unite to create Eleanor Walrus.

Billy Price

2016 Blues Music Award (BMA) Winner and frequent BMA nominee Billy Price first attracted national attention during his three-year association with guitarist Roy Buchanan. Price is the vocalist on two of Buchanan’s LPs, That’s What I’m Here For and Live Stock. Since then, with the Keystone Rhythm Band, the Billy Price Band, and solo projects, Billy Price has recorded and released a total of 20 albums, CDs, and DVDs.

Price’s album, This Time for Real with the late Chicago soul singer Otis Clay, received a 2016 Blues Music Award in the category of best soul blues album. He received BMA nominations in 2019 (Reckoning) and 2020 (Dog Eat Dog) for best soul blues album, and in 2020, 2022, and 2023 for best male soul blues artist.

In 2022, he released a 3-CD compilation retrospective of his career on GetHip Recordings titled ‘50+ Years of Soul.’

The Billy Price Band, based in Billy’s hometown of Pittsburgh, Pa., consists of Dave Dodd (drums), Tom Valentine (bass), Lenny Smith (guitar), Jim Britton (keyboards), Eric Spaulding (sax), and Joe Herndon (trumpet). They won the Pittsburgh City Paper Reader’s Poll in 2021 and 2022 as the top blues band in the city.

Anniversary Celebrations, Past and Present

Since Scottdale's incorporation in 1874, our community has celebrated anniversaries just about every 25 years. The first anniversary, 1899, was quieter than celebrations we know today. It boasted the explosive growth the town was experiencing in its first quarter century with a commemorative book. But what it lacked in parades and parties, it made up for with new business features, tales of the Grand Army of the Republic, and stories of a swelling population.

The 75th in 1949 and 100th in 1974 stand out the most in our history and feel much more like anniversaries we'd recognize. The 75th anniversary rode the waves of patriotism following the end of WWII in 1945 and made for one exciting celebration. Bunting and 75th anniversary banners lined the streets for an memorable parade. There were tours of businesses, special performances, and yes, even a Mardi Gras event.

The centennial 25 years later lives on in the memories of many in our community today. This milestone brought new appreciation for our past and led to events like the Coal and Coke Heritage Festival, today known as our Scottdale Fall Festival. As we take a closer look at past anniversaries and look forward to our 150th, those past celebrations are actually quite similar to our own.

In 1949, the celebration lasted just over a week. Parades, bargains in town shops, "antique displays," banquets, and other events filled the town. We are now taking that same spirit and stretching it across a whole year. Instead of all new events and programs, you will find the excitement of the anniversary in so many town events, organizations, and buildings. It will march in our parades. It will join the merriment of Start the Season in Scottdale this December. It will be displayed with our history at the old Scottdale Savings and Trust building on Pittsburgh Street (next to Somerset Trust.) You will find it in a cookbook, historical talks and tours, performances, contests, and more. Each milestone has brought another 25 years of history to celebrate and a new generation to celebrate it. How will you celebrate Scottdale's 150 years?

Scottdale Historical Society

The Scottdale Historical Society, Inc. incorporated in July 1987 and was reorganized in 2005. Its mission is to collect, preserve, and archive the Scottdale area's rich cultural, industrial, and architectural history for the enjoyment and education of present and future generations. Scottdale is listed on the National Register of Historic Places. This listing is the first step in preserving our town, once one of the richest towns in America. The founding board initiated the Coal and Coke Heritage Festival and purchased the Peter Loucks Homestead with the proceeds of that festival. It also bought the ground and built the gazebo in downtown Scottdale. We will work with the local government and will help formulate preservation ordinances and raise awareness of the many historically significant properties. We will pursue the preservation of as many of the community's historic artifacts, stories and properties as possible. We will work with area organizations to promote our beautiful town, with its tree-lined streets and walkable neighborhoods. Upcoming event, projects, membership and volunteer information is available at scottdalehistoricalsociety.com

It employs many of the features that made the earlier BIGFOOT #18 successful, with some tweaks and improvements. It has a low center of gravity chassis, long-travel shocks, and an even longer wheelbase than the earlier BIGFOOT trucks. This BIGFOOT also utilizes “zoomie” headers, giving it a very loud and unique sound as compared to other BIGFOOT trucks. Scottdale Public Library

As the Scottdale community approaches its 150th anniversary, it is important to note that for 114 of those years the community has had the benefit of a public library, free to the people of the community.

Beginning in 1910, A.L. Keister and his brothers, B.F. Keister, Fenton O. Keister, and Albert Keister, saw the benefit of having a library available to the residents of the community. The gift of a library was originally made on March 23, 1910 and opened to the public on November 7, 1910 with Miss Daisy Mary Smith as first librarian. The library was maintained by the Keister family and supplemented by the school board until A.L. Keister's death. Then the residents of Scottdale, realizing its worth to the community, enthusiastically voted to support the library.

On August 1, 1921, the library was moved from the high school into the Funaro building on Pittsburgh Street until a permanent home could be found. On November 1, 1922, the library was moved to the second floor of the Hurst – Cook Building, later known as the Brennan Building owned by Richard Cossel. In 1967, the library again moved across the street to the Marion Eicher Building at 231 Pittsburgh St. Through the years, the library expanded as adjoining space became available to include 235 Pittsburgh St.

In 1999, Library Director Patricia Miller was contacted by Glenn and Carole Johnson who learned of the need for a children's room at the library. The Johnsons, longtime friends of the library, provided funding to renovate an adjoining space and create a much-needed Children's Room in memory of their daughter Beth Ann. This year also saw the completion of the retrospective conversion of the library records to an automated operating system.

The year 2008 became an important year as the library opened the doors of its permanent home at 106 Spring Street. After many years of fundraising, grant writing, and hard work, the new library was ready to begin its last move. Residents of all ages formed a two-day book brigade and carried every item by hand to the new building. This was a glorious culmination of a wonderful Board of Directors who worked under the leadership of President Judith Ermine, Library Director Patricia Miller, and Assistant Library Director Rhonda Allison. Board member Dr. David Bigley oversaw much of the actual building of the library with architect James Gayton. Two years later, the beautiful Reading Garden was opened to the public and dedicated to the fulfill our library mission: In support of an informed citizenry, Scottdale Public Library provides printed and recorded materials, programs, equipment and staff services to meet the community's educational, professional and recreational needs. The library strives to enrich and empower every patron by fostering a love of reading.

As the borough celebrates 150 years, we hope the library continues to be an instrument for good in our community.
